

Inici > Profiling of circulating microRNAs reveals common microRNAs linked to type 2 diabetes that change with insulin sensitization.

Profiling of circulating microRNAs reveals common microRNAs linked to type 2 diabetes that change with insulin sensitization.

Authors: Ortega, Francisco / Mercader, Josep / Moreno-Navarrete, Jose Maria / Rovira, Oscar / Guerra, Ester / Esteve, Eduardo / Xifra, Gemma / Martínez, Cristina / Ricart, Wifredo / Rieusset, Jennifer / Rome, Sophie / Karczewska-Kupczewska, Monika / Strackowski, Marek / Fernández-Real, José Manuel

Publication: Diabetes Care

Volume / Pagination: 37 / 1375-83

Barcelona Supercomputing Center - Centro Nacional de Supercomputación

Source URL (retrieved on 23 abr 2024 - 09:15): <https://www.bsc.es/ca/research-and-development/publications/profiling-circulating-micrnas-reveals-common-micrnas>