

Human Resources

Objectives

The Human Resources Group is responsible for managing HR controls; recruitment processes including job descriptions and hiring; training; labour relations and collective bargaining; compensation and benefits; HR development programs, career planning and internal promotions; and employee branding and health & safety, amongst other responsibilities related to this area.

The HR vision, recognized in the HRS4R award, is that BSC-CNS recognizes that the researchers from all areas and levels, and the support staff are essential contributors and the key players for the science success at national and international level. BSC wants to promote a challenging work environment where equal opportunities, ethics & integrity, work-life balance, career prospects and the best work conditions are met.
