The Access Committee

Access to the MareNostrum supercomputer and the other nodes in the Spanish National Supercomputing Network (RES) is free. Public calls are published regularly, and scientists wishing to use the resources submit a written proposal online. These proposals are evaluated by the Access Committee, which is made up of prestigious Spanish scientists.

The Access Committee core team is formed by four members:

- a BSC-CNS external manager with wide experience in Innovation Management: Francisco Herrada, MEIC
- an ANEP representative: Julio Bravo
- a supercomputing expert, external to BSC-CNS, but part of the RES: Javier Garcia Tobio, CESGA
- a supercomputing expert, member of BSC-CNS: Jordi Torres

The Access Committee is advised by a panel of external experts which is divided into four groups, following the classification of the Spanish Foundation for Science and Technology (FECYT):
- Astronomy, Space and Earth Sciences:
  - Claudio Dalla Vecchia, Instituto Astrofísica de Canarias
  - Valentí Sallarès, CSIC

- Biomedicine and Health Sciences:
  - Xavier Daura, Universitat Autonoma de Barcelona
  - Ana Rojas, IBIS – HUVR Sevilla
